

MANY SHADES OF BLUE

Chrisopher Williams

If you stand and watch the sky all day and night,
If you stand and watch the sky in the changing light,
You can see it's sometimes dark and sometimes bright,
There are many, many shades of blue.

Colours in the morning, colours in the evening,
Colours in the clouds where the sun shines through,
Colours up above and colours down below,
There are many, many shades of blue.

If you stand and watch the sea all day and night,
If you stand and watch the sea in the changing light,
You can see it's sometimes dark and sometimes bright,
There are many, many shades of blue.

Colours in the morning, colours in the evening,
Colours in the waves where the fish swim through,
Colours up above and colours down below,
There are many, many shades of blue.
There are many, many shades of blue.
